Elections Will Determine Freshman Class Officers

Juniors, Seniors To Elect Members To Honor Council And Assembly

"Selection of 10 freshman class officers highlights the election to be held Wednesday, Nov. 12, from 1 to 6 p. m. in the lobby of Phi Beta Kappa hall," Roy (Dusty) Ash, chairman of the elections committee, has stated. "Upperclassmen will go to the polls to choose a junior and a senior assemblyman and a senior man to men's Honor council."

The freshman class slate will include nominees for president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer and historian. Three freshman women and three freshman men will also be selected for seats in the student assembly.

Petitions To Hocutt

All petitions of the candidates should be handed in to John E. Hocutt, dean of men, not later than Wednesday, Nov. 5. In accordance with the student body constitution, every petition must bear the complete signatures of ten members of the candidate's class as well as the signature of the candidate himself.

The student body constitution also provides that students eligible to run for a freshman class officer are those who are in their first year at William and Mary and who have attended no other college or university previous to their enrollment here.

Upperclassmen must have a quality point average at least as high as the student body average for the preceding semester or a C, whichever is lower. In addition, upperclassmen must have the required number of semester credits and quality points for the class they are representing in order to be eligible for office.

"All candidates are advised to read Article V, section 4 of the student body constitution in order to be certain of all existing rules and regulations concerning student body elections," Ash asserted.

Ash stressed the importance of correctness in drawing up petitions. "Those signing the petitions must be full-fledged members of the class for which they are nominating an officer and must sign their full names," he declared.

Hocutt Releases Scholastic Ratings

Pi Lambda Phi and Delta Delta Delta achieved the highest scholastic averages among fraternities and sororities, it was announced on Friday by John E. Hocutt, fraternity officer.

The average for the entire student body, based on June grades, is 1.41. The women students topped this with a 1.58 rating, while sorority women ranked highest with 1.64. Men students fell below the campus average with a 1.33 rating. Fraternity men averaged 1.28.

College To Join Exeter In Offering Summer Program

Principal John Murray of the University College of the South West at Exeter, England, has invited William and Mary to join with Exeter in the joint operation of a summer school.

During the past summer, Dr. W. Warner Moss, head of the government department, visited England and discussed the proposed program with Principal Murray and members of the faculty and administration at Exeter. He also made a study of similar summer schools at Oxford and Birmingham. George J. Oliver, director of the summer session and Dr. Moss are now working out details of the program with the assistance of the curriculum committee.

"It is particularly important that students signify their interest in the program as soon as possible since arrangements must be made well in advance," declared Dr. Moss.

Student Travel Resumed

Student travel was resumed last summer after a suspension of eight years and the Maritime Commission found it necessary to assign two former troop ships to accommodate the overflow from the regularly scheduled ships. There were summer schools in many of the West European countries and one of the groups, that from the University of Minnesota, sent students to England, France, Sweden, and Spain to study conditions and report back to the student body this fall.

The program now contemplated at Exeter will deal with British history, politics, and culture. Special attention will be given contemporary problems in England and British backgrounds of American culture. The course is planned to carry nine points of academic credit. Some work will be done on the ship and visits are planned to Oxford, Stratford, and London. Several excursions will also be made from Exeter.

Morpurgo To Lecture On English Literature

Alumnus Will Return To Speak On Charles Lamb's School Days

Jack E. Morpurgo, William and Mary alumnus, will lecture tomorrow and Thursday nights at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

His topic on Wednesday night will be "Charles Lamb's School Days," while on Thursday he will discuss "Post-War Literature in England." In connection with the English lecturer's visit, an exhibition of the Lord Dunmore papers will be on display in the library. These historic documents were obtained for the college by Morpurgo.

Came In 1937

In the fall of 1937, Morpurgo came to William and Mary as an exchange student from Christ's Hospital in London, the scene of Charles Lamb's school days. A history major and a student assistant in the manuscript division of the library, he participated in many student activities. The Intercollegiate Debate council made use of his experience as leader of the University of New Brunswick debate tour in 1937, and the following spring, he won the debate cup here. Morpurgo was a member of the International Relations club, the Backdrop club, the staffs of the Colonial Echo and the Royalist, and Sigma Phi Epsilon.

After leaving Williamsburg, Morpurgo continued his studies at the London Institute of Historical Research under scholarship from Christ's Hospital and William and Mary. In 1939 at the age of 20, he joined the Royal Artillery and served throughout the war in India, the Middle East, Egypt, North Africa, and Italy. Entering the service as a lieutenant, Morpurgo rose to the rank of major. During his army service, he wrote for Khaki and Blue and The Penguin New Writings. Before the war, he wrote an article on William and Mary for Overseas, styling his alma mater as "the Oxford of America."

During his period as a research scholar for William and Mary, Morpurgo obtained from the Murray family a collection of manuscripts known as the Dunmore Papers. These papers were presented to the college by the sixth Earl of Dunmore on behalf of the Murray family, during the presidency of the late John Stewart Bryan.

Washington's Letters

Four letters of George Washington to the fourth Earl of Dunmore, Royal Governor of Virginia, are part of the historical collection. Other papers include a letter from Admiral Howe, telling of Washington's evacuation of New York; documents relating to the activities of the Earl of Dunmore as See MORPURGO, Page 10

Colonial Echo Sets Dates For Pictures

A representative of Chidnoff Studios will take individual pictures for the Colonial Echo from Oct. 22 through Nov. 1, inclusive. There will be lists posted in all dormitories where students may sign up for appointments. (Complete details on Page 8.)

Elizabeth Graves

Graves Becomes Judicial Member

Elizabeth (Betsy) Graves was named freshman representative to the judicial committee in the WSCGA election held last Wednesday.

Betsy, who hails from Washington, D. C., attended St. Agnes School in Alexandria. Among her high school activities, she lists the presidency of her junior class and of the Athletic Association. She was assistant editor of the school paper. In her senior year, she was councilor-at-large on the Student council.

Eastern Airlines Urges Holiday Reservations

"All students who are planning to make reservations on Eastern Airlines planes for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays are requested to do so as far in advance as possible in order to insure confirmation of a seat," Ralph Prevost, traffic and sales manager, has announced.

The Independent Coach Co. has agreed to furnish taxi service to Byrd airport to meet buses at Gate 1, provided requests for this service are made the day prior to the flight by calling Fairfield 2-507.

Reservations for Eastern Airlines may be made by phoning Richmond 2-5848 and Fairfield 2-595.

Ticket Distribution To Begin Thursday

Student tickets for the William and Mary-Wake Forest game, which will be played at Cary Field on Nov. 1, will be distributed on Thursday, Oct. 23, from 7:30-9 p. m. at the athletic office in Blow gymnasium, William S. Gooch, business manager of athletics, announced today.

Anyone interested in flying to Boston with the football team this week end should contact Gooch at once for ticket prices and time of departure. The squad is tentatively scheduled to leave Richmond at 5 p. m. Friday and will return Sunday morning.

Despite Fire Hose

Seniors Win Victory Over Sophomores

Wednesday night found the mighty men of senior president Dusty Ash's tug-of-war team rallying their forces in the Sunken Garden.

The seniors donned baseball caps and lighted Corona-Coronas in preparation for the forthcoming battle of the giants. Then, bravely singing "Vive la '48," they marched to the field of encounter.

Meanwhile, the equally-confident sophomores, under the leadership of Johnny Dayton, had completed their snake dance around the women's dormitories and soon appeared at the rendezvous on jockey corner.

There was a feeling of tension in the air as the two teams met at the center line. The official starter raised his revolver into the air and fired—silence. He fired again—still silence. With a shrug of despair, he threw his handkerchief into the air, and the battle was on!

With straining backs and rippling muscles, the contenders heaved at the rope. So great was their strength that the rope soon broke. Hasty repairs were made, and the rope was doubled to prevent further accidents. While the repair crew did its work, a well-known representative of the local fire department, complete with hose, gleefully sprayed water full blast into the faces of the panting seniors.

The struggle was then renewed and, after several crucial moments during which victory hung in the balance, the seniors pulled the sophomores across the center line amid the cheers of the crowd.

In an attempt to cover-up for their humiliating defeat, the sophomores claimed that their end of the rope was shorter. The victorious seniors merely smiled derisively.

Grading System

A group of Tulane University students has instigated a move to introduce a pass or fail grading system in American colleges and universities.

These students "... believe that the Pass or Fail Grading System would remove emphasis from grades and place it upon more meaningful goals, such as personal satisfaction with scholastic attainment. ... The grading system of grammar schools, high schools, and colleges has much to do with shaping the individual's sense of values, because it is usually the first set of sociological incentives which an individual encounters. In our schools we notice that too many students come to work for grades and regard the scholarship, which the grades symbolize, only as a secondary interest. Later these students work for salaries and often forget that interest in their work and contentment with occupational achievements are the more important considerations."

We believe the idea is good, but too idealistic. The more hard-working students will naturally and deservedly want recognition for their efforts. The proposed system may tend to create a laxness on the part of some, despite the fact that the creators of the system believe that removing emphasis from grades would place emphasis on personal satisfaction.

Some supporters of the system desire three symbols, high pass, pass and fail. All this would do is eliminate two of our letter grades. It essentially amounts to the system we have now. If the system is to be used it must be either pass or fail, but if the system is employed students who think they do well will fight for a means of recognition. They will go to their professor and he will have to admit that some of the "pass" exams are better than others.

Letters To The Editor Discuss

Dance Committee, Football Tickets, Fraternities

Editor's Note:

Attention is called to The FLAT HAT policy which states "all letters will be printed, except those which are slanderous or unsigned." The FLAT HAT has received numerous unsigned letters in the past week.

To the Editor:

This letter is being written under the assumption that, although it isn't fashionable, it is permissible to scatter a few roses along with the thorns on the pages of The FLAT HAT.

Uppermost in my mind at this writing, prior to the North Carolina game, is the senior-sophomore tug-o-war last Wednesday night. A great deal of credit is due those who conceived, planned, participated in, or attended that spectacular melee. It showed that the old spirit DOES exist in the college crowd if only it can be brought out. Another fine example was the V.P.I. game, during the second half of which the two sections of William and Mary rooters lost their voices in teaching the cheerleaders a few things about cheering and in vying with the announcer (such as he was) for dominance over the airplanes. The days of the past always seem to have been better, but if those of us who spend so much time in criticizing the general student attitude would devote that time to showing more enthusiasm, "the good old days" alias "back in '42" would again be extant on the campus.

At this point, one short thorn seems to be in order. Never having been one to let unjustified criticism of William and Mary's fraternities go unanswered, I feel that Mr. Seward, by virtue of his last week's letter to The FLAT HAT, deserves a bit of enlightenment. The "fraternities who asked for and received student support last year" were certainly not undeserving of that support when they saw to it that every legitimate student gripe was brought up before the proper authorities, right up to, and including, the Board of Visitors. Mr. Seward was right in deploring the unbecoming conduct of the students who were waiting in line (?) for tickets to the North Carolina game, but why should the blame be put on fraternity men, especially as such? Mr. Seward was also right in casting a vote for the right of fraternities to sit together at the games, but I should like to be shown how fraternities can sit together if his "constructive suggestion" of limiting each waiter-in-line to ten tickets were adopted. With fraternity houses long-gone, although long-to-be-remembered, and the lodges long to be awaited, how else can fraternities fulfill their function, excluding from consideration the weekly meetings in barren classrooms? Also, if every student is entitled to a ticket to all home games, why should one be shoved down into HH or II because he is a fraternity man and wants to sit with his fraternity brothers? As for the alternating in line, it is an ethical practice, because no matter who gets the tickets, only as many tickets as athletic books presented will be given out.

It is unfortunate that fraternities have been subjected to so much criticism, especially since most of it arises not out of a sincere belief by some that fraternities are evil, but simply because fraternities are fraternities.

Sincerely,
Tom Athey.

To the Editor:

I am writing this letter to clear up any misunderstandings that may have arisen from Miss Moore's article about the Dance committee. In the first place the Dance committee, of which I am chairman, has absolutely nothing to do with the large, formal dances that use both gyms such as Homecoming, Finals, etc. Our sole job is to run the regular Saturday night dances held in the small gym. This does include some formal and special dances such as the German Club dances, class dances, etc., but should not be confused with the above mentioned large dances.

Last year our profit from gate receipts was $200.25. Our expenses, including a new public address system at $227.50, were $305.24. This means that our net loss for the Saturday night dances was only $104.99. This year our net profit is, up to now, $130.00. We hope to keep this up, and with student support we can.

Last year we functioned without help from a student dance committee. If there was such a thing, I never saw it or heard of it. Therefore this year I picked several students to help with the Saturday

Lb. Moore Points Out

Good Things At William and Mary

Sure, there are lots of good things about William and Mary. Things like that pep rally last Friday night, the extensively renovated shelter, the 10 p. m. "coffee hour" at the Greeks, chapel, Chownings, the congeniality of sorority court, the spring-blooming magnolia trees on campus, the lighted Wren Building at Christmas time, the ... well we could go on in our allotted space and not cover it all.

Most of us recognize the good aspects of life on this campus, or we wouldn't be here. It gripes us when a few who do stumble on page two of The FLAT HAT call for something "good" in the columns. We're left with the distinct impression that we are waging a "gripe for gripe's sake" campaign. Such is not the case. Our gripes are for one purpose, and that's to improve campus conditions, inconceivable as it may seem to almost everyone we encounter. We hold no fond dreams that everyone, or even anyone, will agree with us, either in regard to what constitutes a legitimate gripe, or our suggested means of improvement.

Good School

But the fact remains, we think William and Mary is a darn fine place to go to school, fine enough so we'd like to make it finer. And if constructive criticism makes for a healthy condition, then we'd like to take on a few

Charles Atlas qualities, in our own humble way.

Orchids to Dusty Ash and Johnny Dayton and their sidekicks for a spectacular tug o' war last week between the sophomore and senior classes. And a sprig of poison ivy to the jokers who handled the water effects. It occurs to us that there's enough showering of a God-given nature around here.

We were interested in the comments Nancy Grube ("Grubie" to all who know her) had to make several FLAT HAT issues ago about our school spirit—that tired old term that says about nothing. Since that letter-to-the-editor, we've been in on several bull sessions when student lethargy was discussed. Invariably, the choir was pointed to as an exception to the rule of apathy among the students.

Choir Outstanding

As a result, we dropped in on 'Pappy' Fehr, choir director, the other day to try to discover what this magic spell is that makes the choir such an outstanding group.

Two things stand out as distinctive, the lack of organization on an officer scale, and an all-important purpose, which is to make good music. Seems they have had a slate of officers in past years, but the system was thrown out this year as nothing but a handicap. Actually, the choir looks like one of the most tightly organized groups on campus, what with four mimeographed pages of rules, many of them stringent. But these rules fit into the purpose of making good music.

The purpose of making good music supersedes all, and unless a member retains the required loyalty, he's out on his ear, and incidentally, this rule sticks. A few wounded ears will testify to this. 'Pappy' operates on a no-one-is-indispensable basis.

Plenty of Give

There's plenty of GIVE in this outfit, and we wondered about the GET. A choir member can't just exactly tell you what he receives, but it has something to do with belonging to an organization that has done a job almost professionally well, and, more important, has succeeded in making a name for the "William and Mary Choir" as such. And we can't disregard the sincere affection the choir holds for its leader. (take a bow Pappy).

We throw this thought out—maybe the answer to our apathy problem is the need of a little more GIVE and a little less of the desire to GET. If 63-choir members have that attitude then there's gotta be something to it.

Drop over to Phi Beta Sunday, Nov. 1 at 4 p. m. and see the results for yourself. The Common Glory choir is going to perform, and we'll guarantee it'll be worth the ninety cents you have to plunk down.

Ronald King Clubs Clubs

In The William and Mary-Go-Round

Let's face it, kiddies. The time has come for a new campus club to begin blazing a trail of glory across extra-curricular skies.

Two days ago a number of students were flitting about the Wigwam, shouting madly to drown out the cacophonous wailings of bilious baritone Vaughn Monroe, when a sturdy sophomore strode in, walked up to the book counter and asked for a copy of The Collected Works of Rita Hayworth (edited by Orson Welles).

Informed that the book was not available, the sophomore (to coin a cliché) turned purple with rage and emitted a furious oath: "Oh, fudge!"

In an instant the tumult was shattered by shattering silence. Every face turned to the sophomore. The stillness was broken by a question: "Did you say FUDGE?"

The soph, fearing nothing at this point, turned to his audience and blared, "Yes, I said FUDGE! What of it? I love fudge! It's wonderful! In fact, I like to make fudge. Anybody have any objections?"

The previously tense faces relaxed and tears of joy began to run down each cheek. "Bravo for you, boy," said one spectator. "Confidentially, I'm a fudge fan myself." Shouts of "Me, too!" echoed from all the booths. In a matter of moments it was apparent that nearly everyone in the Wigwam had a fondness for fudge, and each devotee was quite interested in that melliferous confection.

The rest is history. However, for the benefit of those who cut the last History lecture, we announce that the fudge fanatics have banded together to form a well-knit organization.

One may immediately discover how unique is this organization, how different it is from the other campus activities by reading the club's constitution:

Article I Name and Aim

B. Aim

The aim of this club will be to promote interest in fudge and in fudge activities on campus, and to provide recognition for outstanding fudge-makers at the college.

Bot-E-Talk

Botty's still exhausted from last week-end, too many people doing too many things at the same time. After measuring some of the circles he found under people's eyes Monday morning he has come to the conclusion that there should be one day in the week set aside during which everyone should relax and recover from the last couple of days. He also suggested that there be a few more hours between eight and twelve. A committee of investigation has been appointed to look into these matters. Aside from these weighty thoughts, Botty managed to keep his eyes open and see—

The bonfire getting out of hand and injuring illustrious cheerers,

Pep rally weaving through town at high pitch, hundreds boiling in the sun at the game. And he's still curious about those six Carolina men he heard about who were doorknocking on first floor Barrett. Hey, what goes?

Chownings mobbed with people trying to keep Milwaukee famous, a shift system being inaugurated as Chownings was filled, emptied and refilled with clockwork regularity.

Taxis a rarity as the Powhatan does record-breaking business, mid W&M and Carolina vying for top honors in renditions of THE alma mater.

make the dances as attractive as possible. It is a job that takes much more than mere "complacency" I assure you.

As far as the wiping out of the funds connected with the dances goes, all I can say is, is that I and the Dance committee had nothing to do with it, and know nothing about it. You will have to direct your attacks elsewhere.

Sincerely,

Alan C. Stewart
Chairman Dance committee.

To the Editor:

The school authorities, for the convenience of the student body, made advance sales of tickets (for the North Carolina game) on Thursday night. No doubt, those in charge of issuing the tickets had given no consideration to the methods by which these tickets would be secured by the student body. As a result, some abuses took place early in the evening at the expense of many.

We have no gripe about the various fraternal organizations wanting to secure "blocks" of tickets, but the method used by one large frat on this campus should be stopped. It was not only out of line with the spirit here at W&M, but also opposed the spirit of clean sportsmanship and consideration for others for which fraternities stand.

The representatives of the fraternity in question could not lower themselves to stand in line and await their turn. No, by using their influence with certain athletic officials, they secured 84 tickets without waiting in line. Secondly, another member of this frat, arrived late, asked to be allowed to stand at the head of the line as he was getting only two tickets. He walked out with 100.

In fairness to all, we suggest that only two tickets be sold to a person and a responsible individual of the school police the line, if necessary, to stop line breaking. If the frats want blocks of tickets, let those interested arrive "en Masse!" This would give an honest break to frats, sororities and non-frat men and women.

Sincerely,

Names Withheld by Request.

To The Editor:

You just can't win.

When the various departments of the college start changing things around, the final result is always one of greater expense to the student body. I realize, and I think most of the other students here do too, that certain costs must go up with the increased cost of living.

But when agencies such as the laundry jump some of their rates as much as 100 per cent at one time, that's going too far. Time was when a piece or two of excess laundry was ignored, or charged for a reasonable rate.

Now, with the handling of some of the excess work by outside facilities, the straight excess rate has risen from a nickel to 10 cents a piece and the fee on such things as wash pants, for which there has always been extra charge, has risen by almost a third.

It was my notion, and perhaps a mistaken one, that the laundry here was a non-profit outfit designed primarily to serve the needs of the students. I will be surprised if, when the anticipated new equipment is installed, any reduction to the former rates comes about.

How about, Laundry, what's your excuse?

Name withheld by request.

ROTC Offers Engraved Medal To College Cadet

The United States Coast Artillery Association has offered a medal to the college to be awarded annually to the outstanding artillery cadet. The medal itself will be gold-plated sterling silver and will be engraved with the name of the college and the winner. The award will be made on the basis of grades made during three years of military and academic work. "Personal qualifications such as character, leadership ability, initiative and military bearing will be strongly taken into account," Col. Giles R. Carpenter, professor of military science and tactics, declared.

"After a man graduates from the ROTC, he automatically becomes commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Artillery Officers' Reserve Corps," declared Col. Carpenter.

Selected members of the ROTC will be offered commissions in the regular army. Other graduates are offered an extended active duty tour in the army. From these participants, approximately one out of every six will be selected to receive a regular commission.

The statue of Lord Botetourt, which originally stood at the Capitol, was purchased by the faculty and placed in the center of the College Yard.

Smoke Signals

By BILL GREER

When Coach Rube McCray's William and Mary football team lost to North Carolina, they lost to one of the better teams in the nation, and a far cry from the team which lost to Texas and Wake Forest on successive Saturdays, and a better one than defeated Georgia in the season's opener.

Observers who had watched the Tarheels perform in earlier games, even Coach Carl G. Snavely, said that the UNC team was blocking for the first time this year, and that they played their best game to date against William and Mary. There was a general feeling that the Tarheels would roll for the rest of the season, and that they stand an excellent chance of going through the remainder of their season without a defeat.

Tarheels Look Good

The UNC offense looked impressive, a shade more so than that of W&M but actually there was little difference between the two teams. William and Mary's line again proved its greatness by a tremendous goal-line stand and some other noteworthy feats.

There was little to be said against either team. Carolina's Justice played his best game so far, but he has yet to break into the scoring column. William and Mary's Jack Cloud left little doubt regarding the wisdom of his selection to the all-Southern fullback post over Walt Pupa last year.

Cloud did the unexpected when he did his first passing of the year. His jump-pass to end Bob Steckroth a few yards past scrimmage was good for 10 or 15 yards on several occasions when such yardage was needed badly.

Indian Conference Chances

Although defeated by North Carolina, the William and Mary grid team still stands an excellent chance of finishing in first place in the Southern Conference standings. The two games that will go farthest toward deciding the champion will be the W&M-Wake Forest encounter here a week from Saturday, and the Duke-Carolina game in November.

If Carolina defeats Duke and the Indians subdue Wake Forest, every team in the conference will have lost at least once, and the Braves will have a chance to finish off their campaign with a higher percentage because of a greater number of family games played.

Grid Selection

We'll only stick our necks out a few inches this week to say that William and Mary will have a little, but not very much trouble in sending the B. U. Terriers scurrying with their tails between their legs.

Once-Beaten Redmen Face Boston U. In Intersectional Tilt There Saturday

Coach Rube McCray takes his once beaten William and Mary Indians to Boston this week end for a game with Boston University Saturday night at 8 at Fenway Park. It will be the only out-of-state game of the season for the Braves, and will be one of two intersectional tilts in which the W&M team will engage.

Battered from last week's bruising struggle with their strong opponents, both teams should nevertheless be at something resembling their peak. The Terriers of Beantown tangled with Purdue last Saturday, while William and Mary was well occupied with the Tarheels of North Carolina.

It has been a better season on the whole for William and Mary than for Coach Buff Donelli's team, which is just making its bid to return to bigtime football this year. BU has embarked on an extensive program of rebuilding, but it is doubtful that the school will be able to send out a team which will be in the same class with the Indians.

Starting for the Terriers will likely be seven sophomores, who are important in the BU rebuilding program, plus one senior, two juniors and a freshman who is eligible because he entered in February.

One of the outstanding backs in the East is reported at Boston in the person of Don Giles, the only senior on the starting lineup. Captain of the team, he is a triple-threat back and has been showing up better because he has not had to carry the entire offensive burden.

The Boston team will be a little lighter than the invading Indians, averaging a little over 195 in the line and around 190 in the backfield. The Tribe forward wall averages a little over 200 pounds to the man, with the backfield coming in at about 190.

Macken Returns From PA Tourney

Brendan Macken of William and Mary, who represented Canada in the Pan-American Tennis tournament at Mexico City, eliminated two of the contestants before losing to Francisco (Pancho) Segura in the third round.

Segura upset Frank Parker and went on to meet Jaroslav Drobny, the Czechoslovakian who upset Jack Kramer at Wimbledon last year.

Macken returned to William and Mary over the week end.

Red Caughron Anchors Line, Always Plays Steady Game

By Tommy Joynes

Most unheralded of the William and Mary first string gridmen is Harry "Red" Caughron, 200-pound tackle from Johnson City, Tenn., who rates as one of the steadiest ball players on the squad.

Red never plays a standout game, showing exceptionally well for one week and then doing nothing for several; he merely plays good football every game, doing the job he is supposed to do on each play. Defensively, he's a wall, and when the Tribe is rolling he pulls out of the line and takes on the secondary to pave the path for the "glory boys."

Late in the VPI game, when the Techmen had driven to the six-inch line for a first down, the Indians held them for all four remaining downs. And their first three plays were aimed between Caughron and Knox Ramsey, both of whom were in on all three of the tackles.

Red packs his weight on a six-foot, two-inch frame, and runs right along with the fastest linemen. The 25-year-old married veteran served three years in the Infantry, and 16 months of that time was spent in the European Theatre of Operations.

Coughron's football career began at Science Hill high school in Johnson City, where he also tossed the weights on the track team. As a tackle there he was chosen to the All-State eleven, and All-Eastern Tennessee, and received the school's outstanding athlete award for two consecutive years. He was one of the most sought-after high

Changes in this lineup have been hinted at by Donelli, and certain changes may be necessary after Saturday's game with the powerful Boilermakers of Purdue.

Coach McCray will probably stick by approximately the same team he has used all season, with Hoitsma and Steckroth at ends, Sazio and Caughron at tackles, Ramsey and Saffko or McDowell at guards and Tommy Thompson at center in the line, and with Tom Mikula at blocking back, Henry Blanc at wingback, Jack Cloud at fullback and Buddy Lex, Jack Bruce or Stan Magdziak at the key tailback slot.

Hoyas Defeat Indian Jayvee

Coach Al Thomas's William and Mary Jayvees came back to overcome an early two-touchdown margin Thursday, but the Georgetown Junior Varsity pushed over a third score in the last period to win, 18-13. The game was played in Washington, D. C.

Both of Georgetown's first two touchdowns, one in each of the first two periods, came on passes from quarterback Tom Hardiman to end Bob Noppinger, and put them out in front of the Little Indians, 12-0.

W&M's first score came in the second quarter when Skultety crashed through the Georgetown line from the three yard marker. The second came in the third period in one of the more spectacular plays of the game. Bill Grady passed from mid-field to Hillsman Wilson on the Georgetown thirty yard line. Wilson dodged three would-be tacklers and scored standing up. Smith then converted to make the score 13-12 in favor of W & M.

The winning touchdown for Georgetown came on a shovel pass with three minutes remaining in the game, making the score 18-13.

Considering the hard workouts with the varsity earlier in the week, the boys played a good game. Especially outstanding were halfback Harry Hilling, Fullback Joe Skultety, Blocking Back Joe Mark, Finn, Dawkins and Gehlman.

Pupa Scores Winning Tally Late In Game

William and Mary's battling Indians, playing a great game against the University of North Carolina, suffered their first defeat of the season, 13-7, in one of the hardest-fought games ever played at Cary field. A capacity crowd of around 17,000 fans saw the Tarheels come back after defeats at the hands of Texas and Wake Forest to stop the Braves.

The game was a clean, closely contested fight from beginning to end, with one break which set up the UNC touchdown in the last quarter showing the difference between the teams.

Coach Rube McCray paid tribute to both the victorious Tarheels and his Indians, saying that the Braves "played their hearts out. They just lost to a team which was a little better." Both teams played fine games and it was next to impossible to pick out individual stars.

If any stars could be chosen from the William and Mary line, they would be Guard Knox Ramsey, Center Tommy Thompson and Tackle Red Caughron.

After a scoreless first quarter, William and Mary's line electrified the fans with a great goal-line stand before the Tarheels drove from the W&M 32 to paydirt. The first score came on a spot pass from Big Walt Pupa to Jim Camp in the end zone. Cox kicked the extra point. Carolina led, 7-0 at the half.

Jacket Runners Win Over Tribe

Although William and Mary Freshman Clyde Baker, of New York, set a new course record, the Randolph-Macon cross country team defeated the Indian runners, 25-30, at Ashland Thursday. Low score wins in cross country.

Baker ran the course, which measured about 2.5 miles, in the record time of 11 minutes, 28 seconds. He was held up about 15 seconds by one of the ever-present Ashland trains, and his actual running time should have been around 11:10.

Clarence (Rocket) Roy took fourth for the Tribe, Bob Hedman came in seventh, Bob McPeck took eighth and Bob Engel was tenth. Tappy did not place. Points are awarded on the basis of one for first place, two for second and so on.

The next meet will be Saturday with Richmond there.

OUTSTANDING INDIAN LINEMAN is Tackle Harry (Red) Caughron, playing his second season as a regular. Red always plays a steady, hard game. He was one of the standouts in the North Carolina game.

Board Of Officials Seeks Candidates

The Williamsburg Board of Women officials has announced that candidates for training and ratings in swimming, hockey and basketball are urgently needed. Interested persons should contact the Jefferson gymnasium office as soon as possible.

Mrs. Dearstyne is the new chairman of the Officiating Board for the session of 1947-'48. Last year the board was active in awarding local, intramural or national ratings in various sports to qualify college students.

Dormitory, Sorority Swimming Begins Tonight At Blow Gym

Swimming intra-murals will begin tonight at 7 p.m. in Blow Gym. The finals, Oct. 28, will consist of the best dormitory and sorority teams.

League A is composed of Kappa, Pi Phi, Chi O, Tri Delta, Kappa Delta and Chandler League B's competition, which will start Oct. 23, will include Theta, Alpha Chi, Gamma Phi, Phi Mu, Barrett and Jefferson.

Starting for Kappa there is Jackie Freer, freestyler, of the '45-'46 varsity team and Fran House backstroker, of the '46-'47 team. Also swimming for Kappa is Celine Reinbrecht of the '46-'47 squad.

Penny Allenbaugh, freestyler, and Peppy Arnold, backstroker, of the '45-'46 squad will team together for the Pi Phi's.

From Chi O there is Jane Oblander, freestyler and diver, also a varsity member in her freshman year, '45-'46.

Marty Adams and Barbara Simons, two speedy freestylers, will try to snatch the sorority title for Gamma Phi.

Theta darts forward with proficiency in diving seen in Betty Ellen Littlefield. Jeanne Bevans and Jane Seaton, short distance freestylers, of the '45-'46 squad will also participate for Theta.

Kappas Lead Tennis Loop

Chi O and Kappa triumphed in tennis intra-murals Tuesday, Oct. 14. Jane Copland of Kappa beat Virginia Lee Wierum of Alpha Chi 6-1. Jean Morgan won over Elaine Akehurst 6-2. Alpha Chi's first team bowed to Kappa's first with the win of Morgan and Copland over Akehurst and Wierum by a score of 6-2. Alpha Chi rallied over Kappa to win all second team matches.

Chi O's first team of Eegie Grant and Jimmy Murphy triumphed over Barrett's Virginia Lee Moore and Bouham winning 6-2 each. The Chi O doubles team of Jane Beatty and Eegie Grant won over Mary Perry and Virginia Lee Moore of Barrett 6-1.

Patsy Keen and Tooker Ewart of Tri Delta bowed to Jefferson in both singles and doubles.

First team sorority and dormitory standings thus far are: League A—Kappa, Jefferson, Chi O, Tri Delta, Alpha Chi; League B's team—Kappa Delta, Theta, Barrett, Gamma Phi, Pi Phi, and Chandler.

Grid, Tennis 'Mural Play Moves Ahead

O. D. "A's" 22-6 win over the Minerva Lions was the most impressive during the first week of intramural touch football. Only six games were played during the week because of adverse weather conditions.

Lambda Chi Alpha avenged a last year's defeat by opening the season with a 6-0 triumph over Pi Lamb. A pass play, Kellem to Mears, clicked for the touchdown. Pi KA and Kappa Sig were the other winners in the fraternity league, defeating Pi Lamb and Phi Alpha respectively.

The following men have been designated as officials for the two touchball leagues and are to be contacted by team managers at least two days ahead of scheduled "home" games. The officials are: Charles Marasco, 218 N. Boundary St.; Bob Barritt, 303 Richmond Rd.; Leo Brenner, 704 College Terrace; and Harry Robison, Jay Hardison and Frank Scott, who live in Old Dominion hall.

Howard Smith, intramural director, has asked that all spectators cooperate with managers of teams playing by not standing between the two fields. Smith further urged that spectators refrain from passing footballs across or onto the regular playing fields while games are in progress.

Old man weather again took his toll of tennis matches in the intramural tournament. The first round deadline has been extended to Oct. 22, while Oct. 27 stands as the second round deadline. Only two players have reached the third round to date. They are Elias Richards, upset winner of Ken Scott and winner over Al Kritzer. Ken Nellis gained a position in the third round by default.

In 1906 the college property was transferred to the State of Virginia. Since that time William and Mary has been under the direction of a Board of Visitors appointed by the governor.

DON GILES, Boston U. half-back, is one of the best backs ever to play at that school. He is a triple-threat man and captain of the team William and Mary faces Saturday night in Boston.

school gridmen ever to come out of that section.

Red came to William and Mary in 1942, at which time he was a starting tackle with the great freshman team of that year. His play along the line would have gained him a varsity berth for sure had freshmen been eligible to operate with the Big Green in those days. He was chosen to the mythical All-State freshmen team at the conclusion of the season.

Returning from the army last year, Red moved right into a first string position and held it throughout the season. His aggressive play along the line gained him All-State honors. Coach McCray counts on another season or two from the husky Tennessean, who is rated as most consistent of all the Redmen.

William and Mary took the kick-off in the third, ran to midfield in a series of plays and kicked to the NC five. Jack Bruce carried Charlie Justice's first down quick kick back to the NC 28 and Buddy Lex ran to the left without blocking for 12 yards. Jack Cloud picked up four yards to the 12 on two running plays, and then tossed a jump-pass to Steckroth on the Tarheel two. Cloud went over standing up on the next play. Stan Magdziak kicked the extra point, his 14th in a row for the season.

A fumble by Buddy Lex in the fourth set up the last UNC score. Taking over on the W&M 20, Justice, Camp and Pupa took the ball to the half yard line, and Pupa plunged over for the touchdown. Cox's attempted conversion was wide.

Lex passed to Ragazzo, who lateraled to Jack Hoey on a 37 yard play to put the Braves in a threatening position, but that final W&M threat was stopped when Carolina held on fourth down and took possession of the ball. The final score stood, 13-7.

Wilson Pleased With Early Court Drills As 48 Turn Out

Coach Barney Wilson expressed satisfaction at the results of the first three basketball practices last week at which seven lettermen led a large turnout of some 48 court hopefuls. The squad is drilling three times a week under Wilson and many of the men are working out two days a week by themselves.

The cagers are working for their opener December 6. It was learned that practice games before the start of the regular campaign are contemplated with probable foes including some of the teams in the area not listed on the regular slate.

Big Chester Giermak, Charlie Sokol, Johnny Green, Charlie Teach, Bob Holley, Austin Wright and Bob Hewitt are lettermen who are seeking positions on the 1947-'48 edition of the Big Green basketball team.

Several lettermen and other prospects are now out for football and will not be available until the season is ready to start. Outstanding freshmen include

Paul Webb, of Petersburg, Ed McMillan, of Athens, Tenn., and Buck Billingsly, of Middleborough, Ky. Also outstanding among the prospects are Newell Lane and Maurice Kofford, both freshmen.

Ken Martin, Jere Bunting, Randy Mallory, Vic Janega, James Mackey, Don Dolan and Marv Atkins are others who may make strong bids for varsity positions.

Wilson stated that he planned to divide the squad into a varsity and junior varsity, with a working squad of about 18 men on the varsity.

Most of the early work is being devoted to the fundamentals of basketball — shooting, ball handling, footwork and general conditioning drills.

Wilson also announced that early practices would be closed, adding, "We feel that an educational process similar to that of the classroom is in progress." He said that certain sessions would be open to the student body later in the season and that he would attempt to have scrimmages on the night or two each week that practice will be open.

The medical service of the college has announced that inoculations against influenza A and B are again available at the infirmary upon payment of $1 at the treasurer's office.

SKIRTS IN SPORTS

By Betty Counce

Last week we presented the faculty side of the intercollegiate controversy and now, the other half of the question—THE STUDENTS' SIDE. The differences between the two factions become increasingly more pronounced when the problems are weighed.

As pointed out in a survey of the women's student body last year, only 2% of the 98% that voted for some intercollegiate were actually willing to participate in the sports. Most girls, by the time they have become seniors, are so involved in extra-curricular activities that they have no time for athletics and very little interest in them.

One of the main points of contention last year was the fact the coaches scheduled away matches in direct conflict with big college social events. Also, as in the case of hockey, the co-eds met far superior competitors in the northern teams and this disrupted the morale of the local team. Girls cannot get excited about a sport when they boast a no win, five loss, record—it reflects on them, the coaches and the college.

An applicant for any co-ed varsity squad is expected to reserve about six hours a week for practice time. How many students not actively engaged in a gym class have that much time to spare? A participant is also expected to cut down smoking to three or four cigarettes a day, eat well balanced meals, and get at least eight hours of sleep a night. The last mentioned rule is ridiculous at William and Mary.

Last year the senior nominations committee selected a representative from each class to serve on an Advisory Board to the physical education department. The purpose of the board was to bring suggestions of the student body to the attention of the instructors. The Board, so far, has proved a failure. There have been no noticeable improvements in the department as a result of student suggestions. The instructors have been quite content to keep their athletic set-up as is, in spite of the fact that it has caused the breakdown of intramurals, intercollegiate and co-ed spirit.

The underlying cause of co-ed non-support is best brought out in a survey conducted by this department. Of ten monogram winners contacted from various '46-'47 varsity teams, only one is participating in intercollegiate athletics this year. The other nine stated they would be much more inclined to participate in sports if they could assist in drawing up the schedule and pick their own faculty coach! Draw your own conclusions!

WSSF To Sponsor Drive To Help Victims Of War

A drive to provide funds for students and teachers made destitute by the war will get under way toward the latter part of November at William and Mary, under the sponsorship of the Student Religious Union, which will work with the World Student Service Fund.

Mark Waldo, chairman of the WSSF committee at the college, announced that speakers and programs will be presented here in an effort to promote the drive. "Teachers, students and organizations on the campus will be solicited," he said.

WSSF was organized in the United States in 1937 when the needs of students of China's war-evacuated colleges first became critical. Its activities were extended to Europe when war broke out there in 1939. It is working today to re-establish students in countries affected by the war and to carry them through the first few crucial years. For this purpose, WSSF has set a $1,000,000 goal for the United States.

World Student Relief is an international student agency for which WSSF is the American fund-raising organization. It works with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations, which began this year to promote a campaign for $100,000,000 for educational relief and reconstruction in war-devastated areas.

George N. Shuster, president of Hunter College, is president of the WSSF, assisted by representatives from colleges all over the country.

Royalist Editor Asks For Additional Material

Marcia Magill, editor of the Royalist, has announced that there are still openings on the magazine staff and that the deadline for try-outs is Nov. 2. Freshmen and sophomores are still needed for this work.

All types of material are still wanted for the first edition which will come out on Nov. 1. All manuscripts should be put in the Royalist box in Marshall-Wythe before the deadline on Thursday, Oct. 23. Late entries will be considered for the next issue.

Marcia also stated that she would like material for "Lecture Leavenings." These are witty sayings of professors. "Start collecting them and give them to the Royalist with the name of the professor and the course," Marcia declared.

The November edition of the magazine will be judged for cash prizes by three faculty members, one of whom will be an English professor, and two senior students.

New Instructor Joins Biology Department

Carol Lotz, newly-appointed instructor in biology, arrived at William and Mary and began teaching on Friday, October 10.

In announcing her appointment, Dr. Sharvy G. Umbeck, dean of the college, stated that Miss Lotz received her B. A. at Mills College, Oakland, Calif., in 1946, attended the University of Washington in Seattle during the summer of 1946, and received her M.A. in biology from Mills last June. She participated in many activities while at Mills and was a Phi Beta Kappa.

Stewart Requests 13 More Members In Marching Band

A plea for 13 additional members to the college's 37-piece marching band has been made by Alan C. Stewart, director of the band.

Especially needed are two bass horns, three trumpets, two French horns, one trombone and five clarinets. "Other musicians from the campus will also be considered, however," Stewart said.

These additions, which would enlarge the band to at least 50 pieces, would make marching and drilling possible. "The band will play at all the games," Stewart said, "but there will be no marching or drilling because there are not enough members to make it worthwhile."

All interested have been requested to apply to Stewart's office in the music building Monday, Wednesday or Friday from 9 to 10 a. m., 2 to 2:30 p. m., or to attend the Wednesday night rehearsal at 7:15 p. m. in the music building basement.

Dramatic Club Sees 'Glory' Colored Slides

Colored slides of "The Common Glory" were shown at a meeting of Dramatic club, which was held this evening.

Members of the organization who participated in the pageant at the Matoaka amphitheatre the past summer entertained their fellow members with scenes from the production. Among them were Ronald King, the narrator; John Manos, Patrick Henry; and Joe Buchanan, Cephus Sicklemore.

Future plans of the organization include a lecture, tentatively scheduled for March, by George Freedley, noted critic. "We hope that individual members of the group will contribute entertainment at the meetings," declared Joe Buchanan, president. "Round-table discussions concerning various phases of the drama will be part of the program at our meetings," he added.

Colonial Echo Lists

Photography Schedule

Photographs of the classes and organizations for the Colonial Echo will be taken during Oct. 22 through Nov. 1 by Chidnoff Studios.

Class pictures of the women students will be made this week, for the men, next week. Lists are posted in the dormitories where students may sign up for a five-minute sitting. Day students may have their pictures taken at any time. Brafferton hall is to be used as the studio and students are requested to bring the entire amount of money for the pictures at the first sitting.

For freshmen the charge is $2.50; for sophomores, $2.75; for juniors, $3.00; and for seniors, $3.75. For organizational pictures 50 cents extra is required.

A tentative schedule for the first group of organization pictures to be taken has been drawn up but is subject to change or approval by the club presidents. Notification of all changes or announcements will be made in the cafeteria. In case of rain, pictures will not be taken but will be rescheduled.

President Of WSG, Shuz Sprague, Leads Busy College Life At WM

"I feel very green," Shuz Sprague declared when questioned about her practice teaching at Matthew Whaley. "But I do enjoy it and I hope to teach a year. I really don't plan to do anything spectacular, though."

President of WSCGA, Shuz has been interested and active in student government work since grade school. That interest is evidenced by her campus activities. As president of Women's Student Government, she is a member of the Student assembly, the Senate, the General Co-operative committee, the student activities committee on intelligence and morale and she presides over the senior nominating committee. Needless to say, she is kept busy.

On the academic side, Shuz is majoring in sociology and minor in education. In connection with the latter, she does practice teaching in the sixth grade at Matthew Whaley, and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity, and add to this Mortar Board and dean's list.

When asked about WSCGA, Shirley said, "I'd like someday to have it an organization in which all women would participate actively. For instance, at May Day this year, to make it larger and more successful, my aim would be to have as many women as possible serve on the various committees. People are interested in an organization only when they are working for it." She added that the interest shown by the freshman women is very encouraging.

Shuz lists classical music, bridge and harmonized singing among her likes. "Bull Sessions" rate high in favor, "Though I haven't had time for these lately," Shuz said ruefully.

Red Cross Opens Work at Hospital, Life Saving Class

Volunteer work at Eastern State Hospital and life saving or advanced life saving courses are open to college students under the supervision of the Red Cross as part of that organization's plans for this semester.

With the aid of student volunteers, the Eastern State committee of the college unit of the American Red cross intends to extend its social work. It will assist the male patients in wood work and shop classes and in recreational activities, while parallel activities such as sewing, drawing and recreation will be furthered in the women's division. Escort duty for patients is also part of the program.

If enough students volunteer, the committee expects to arrange for calisthenics for both men and women, social dancing, folk dancing, card parties, student concerts, group sings and other activities beneficial to the patients. Those who are interested in social work of this type should contact Herbert Phillips in Old Dominion 104 or submit their names at the Red Cross chapter room over the Colonial stores.

Accredited courses in life saving and advanced life saving will be given by the Red Cross college unit. Anyone who wishes to take either course should apply to David Strubinger at the Bruton Parish house or Liz Mylander at the Tri Delta house. "Immediate application is necessary since a program of classes must be arranged," Strubinger declared.

Coach McCray Hails Enthusiasm At Rally

Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray, in speaking to the pep rally which assembled in back of the Wren building on Friday night, Oct. 17, stated that it was the largest rally he had seen in eight years at William and Mary and expressed thanks to the students for their enthusiasm during the week.

Students assembled for the rally according to their classes and marched to the Wren building, where the band and the cheerleaders led in song and cheers. The team members were present and co-captains Bob Streckroth and Ralph Sazio spoke to the students before the cheerleaders led the way to the bonfire on the baseball field. There were more cheers around the fire and the rally ended with the traditional snake dance which led to the President's house.

King Announces New Participants In Backdrop Club

Membership in the Backdrop club, the organization which produces the annual varsity show, soared over the 200 mark as applications continued to arrive from students who were unable to join at the opening meeting.

"If there are still more students who wish to become members," stated president-producer Ronald King, "they may write to Michaela Grenata or to me at the local post-office. Don't forget to sign your name to the application. We had a student who neglected to include his name, and he must be seething somewhere," King continued.

There will be an unofficial get-together of the club immediately after the group picture for the Colonial Echo have been taken. Members are urged to arrive at the back steps of the Wren Building at 3:20 on Thursday, Oct. 23, so that the throng can be assembled for the picture.

Plans for a Backdrop club-sponsored dance will be discussed at the impromptu meeting, and announcements will be made concerning preliminary try-outs for the forthcoming varsity show.
